LEADERBOARD

Harold is a kidnapper who wrote a ransom note, but now he is worried it will be traced back to him through his handwriting. He  $found\ a\ magazine\ and\ wants\ to\ know\ if\ he\ can\ cut\ out\ whole\ words\ from\ it\ and\ use\ them\ to\ create\ an\ untraceable\ replica\ of\ his\ properties of\ the properties of\ the\ propertie$ ransom note. The words in his note are case-sensitive and he must use only whole words available in the magazine. He cannot use substrings or concatenation to create the words he needs.

Given the words in the magazine and the words in the ransom note, print Yes if he can replicate his ransom note exactly using whole words from the magazine; otherwise, print No.

For example, the note is "Attack at dawn". The magazine contains only "attack at dawn". The magazine has all the right words, but there's a case mismatch. The answer is  $\emph{No}.$

Function Description

Complete the checkMagazine function in the editor below. It must print Yes if the note can be formed using the magazine, or checkMagazine has the following parameters:

- magazine: an array of strings, each a word in the magazine
- note: an array of strings, each a word in the ransom note

Input Format

The first line contains two space-separated integers, m and n, the numbers of words in the magazine and the note.

The second line contains m space-separated strings, each magazine[i].

The third line contains n space-separated strings, each note[i].

Constraints

- $1 \le m, n \le 30000$
- $1 \leq |magazine[i]|, |note[i]| \leq 5$ .
- ullet Each word consists of English alphabetic letters (i.e., a to z and A to Z).

Output Format

Print Yes if he can use the magazine to create an untraceable replica of his ransom note. Otherwise, print No.
